OUR MISSION

The Friends of the Chester County Library is a nonprofit organization with volunteers dedicated to improving the lives of library users through advocacy, service, and funding of extraordinary materials and programs.

WHAT DO FRIENDS DO?

Have you seen the new furniture and signs at the Library? You may also have used the music preview stations; or seen the digital sign out front? And don't miss the live fish action in the Children's Area. These and many other improvements were made possible by the caring support of Library Friends. We also provide training and conference support for library staff, fund children and adult programs, and make library purchases on behalf of benefactors.

THIS IS WHAT FRIENDS ARE FOR

The Friends of the Chester County Library help the Library expand its services and endeavor to involve the community by stimulating interest in and use of the Library. The Friends act as an advocate for the Library. Use of the Library has increased over the years; however, Pennsylvania State funding has been reduced.

Our semi-annual BOOK SALES are our most popular event, offering thousands of donated books to the public. All proceeds support Library services.

Since 1988, the Chester County Library Friends group has donated over $1.8 million for children's programming, special collections, library re-design, furniture, new computers, and much more.
